1. On 26 and 29 September and on 2 October 1952, source observed that the Hindenburg Kaserne in Leipzig was still occupied by a unit with an estimated strength of 150 EM including 30 women, all of whom wore black-bordered blue epaulets. At 7:45 p.m. on 2 October, the gymnasium, the quarters and 11 additional windows of the western billeting building were lighted. Trucks 25X1 entered 25X1 and left the barracks installation. Sedan 25X1 stopped in front of the barracks installation while two officers got out of it and entered the installation.¹
